

Have we Been here before?

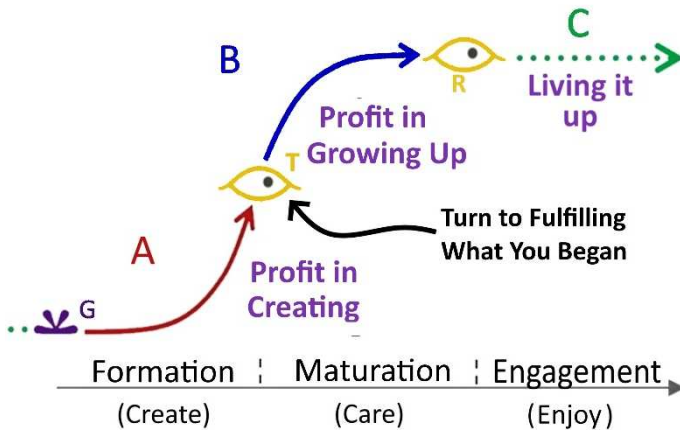

Eager to address the symptoms,
Too frustrated to look for the real causes?

When did we miss what turn?

Nature teaches life to steer away from hazards and make creativity a big success - BUT - something about how we do it for ourselves fails our most successful civilization(s)

To get things started, A) Creative Design is profitable at first, then B) Care for Contexts to work in the end.

Nature's New Life Plan

The Renaissance was a rebirth of growth after the dark ages, leading to our world today we've become unable to care for.

Growth always runs into its contexts, usually feeling limits and how to connect, not growing conflicts. money has no feeling, so it doesn't know when or how to do that,
